

A b s t r a c t

The invention relates to a method and a device for recording high-resolution microscopic images of particles or organisms suspended in a liquid, wherein the suspension is introduced into a measuring cell, especially a flow cuvette, and the image of the suspension is recorded by an optical sensor, and wherein the optical sensor and the measuring cell are moved relative to one another while the content of the measuring cell is imaged completely or in part.